Leo Rogers, Who Had Foiled All Police Attempts at Capture Shot Down Sergeant Urquhart at Father's Home and Escapes—But is Shot Dead same Afternoon—Had Been at Large for Two Weeks

NORTH BAY, May 30.—Use of militia to aid the police and other authorities in rounding up Leo Rogers, who has held this district in terror for two weeks and who killed Police Sgt. Urquhart this morning was advocated at the combined meeting of the Board of Trade and City Council today. General V. A. Williams, commissioner of provincial police, was asked to consider the advisability of equipping the Dominion Government for militia to aid in the capture of the desperado.

Reports this afternoon say that Rogers was seen at six o'clock this morning getting out of a skiff on the shore of Lake Nipissing and breaking into the woods ten miles away from North Bay.

TORONTO, May 30.—Sergeant John Urquhart of the provincial police was shot dead at North Bay early this morning, presumably by Leo Rogers, the United desperado. The police were called to the house of Rogers' father at North Bay during the night and saw a man enter. They surrounded the place. Sergeant Urquhart went to the front door where he was shot, dying instantly and the man escaped but the police are hot on his trail.

Other shots were fired, but the police were armed only with revolvers, and being in grave danger of death from Rogers' rifle, they retreated from the front and back doors.

While the police were taking shelter through a side window which was later found open and made his way down Metcalfe street. He was seen at the Canadian Pacific and T. and N. O.

Bow Island News

The 24th. May was celebrated in Bow Island with Sports at the local park, by the afternoon a good number of people from the country had gathered, and the finishing touch to the day was a dance in the evening.

Mr. J. Henderson from Lethbridge arrived on Tuesday evening at Bow Island to visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Henderson here.

Services were held at All Saints Church on Sunday, both morning and evening services being well attended.

Rev. F. R. R. Leacroft leaves on Tuesday for Vancouver, being compelled to go to the coast on account of ill-health. His many friends hope he will soon be able to return much improved in health.

Mrs. Kleutsche entertained the Rev. Leacroft to supper on Sunday, the Rev. Leacroft was also the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Budgeale on Saturday night.

The All Saints Ladies' Aid met with Mrs. Roach on Monday afternoon, after the usual business was over the hostess served a dainty lunch which was much enjoyed.

The All Saints Ladies' Aid will meet on Wednesday 14th. June in the evening at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Budgeale.

The Ladies' Altar Society of St. Michael's Church met on Thursday 31st. May at the home of Mrs. J. Halloran. The hostess serving refreshments at the close of the business.

railway crossing where he was challenged by the watchman. Replying with a foul epithet, he became the target of the watchman's rifle, but both shots missed. Watchman Osborne claimed that as Rogers ran along the track he was still carrying his rifle.

Councillor E. L. Banner declared that he had evidence that Rogers headed through the bush right down to the shore of Lake Nipissing where he tried to run. Dr. Archie McCauley's automobile, with dire results to the car. Blood marks were later found on the instrument board, and also on the seat and floor of the car.

The hot and final trace which the police have so far as known, is that of a Nipissing farmer, Allan Johnson, who claimed that he saw a man answering Rogers' description leaving from a skiff which he had beached on the Nipissing side of the lake and disappearing into the woods. This clue is regarded as very timely indicating the direction which Rogers took, and explains the disappearance of a boat from the lake shore the night previous. Once barricaded among the rocks in that section of the country the opinion was expressed at the conference of citizens that his position would be well nigh impregnable. The idea, in asking for militia reinforcements will be to spread a veritable network of searchers along the "old Nipissing" roads that will eventually force the fugitive to seek food and shelter at submit to capture.

Leo Rogers was shot dead by police on "Wednesday" afternoon when he came out of the bush 8 miles from Nipissing.

We are glad to hear that Mary daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Calder, who is in Medicine Hat Hospital suffering from a nervous breakdown, is a little improved.

Mr. J. Politt left Wednesday for Edmonton, to attend as a delegate at the Methodist Conference being held there for about a week.

Miss Faulds who has been suffering from Nipissing is now back at her duties at the school.

Mr. L. Hopkins from Medicine Hat spent Sunday visiting in Bow Island.

Mrs. Brownings returned home last Tuesday from Medicine Hat.

Mrs. Roach leaves on Tuesday for Victoria to visit with her parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Braden left yesterday Tuesday for Medicine Hat to spend two days there.

Insulin Treatment for Diabetes Now Used Throughout the World Says Discoverer

Not Sure it is a Cure

NEW YORK.—Remarkable progress has been made during the last year in the use of the "Insulin" treatment for Diabetes and over three thousand cases in the United States were being benefited by it, it was stated last night by Dr. F. G. Banting of Toronto, discoverer of the treatment, who spoke before the 117th annual convention of the New York State Medical Association. The treatment has been most efficient and its use has been most effective and its use has steadily grown until it is now employed in almost every part of the world, Dr. Banting said, but as yet it is impossible to say whether Insulin supplies as absolute cure for Diabetes.

Turks gain Karagatch and also the Railroad from Karagatch to Bulgarian frontier

Dramatic Session of Lausanne Conference. Difficulties Seem to Be Now Nearly Over

GREEKS MAKE EXTENSIVE CONCESSIONS

Admit They Owe Reparations to Turkey, But the Turks Agree Not to Press them

LAUSANNE, May 28.—Peace instead of war in the Near East was the result of a dramatic session of the Lausanne conference held Saturday at Ouchy chateau, to settle the Turk-Greek reparations controversy. Complete agreement was reached and, as this was the only remaining problem between the Greeks and the Turks, hostilities, which it was feared might involve the Balkan countries, have been averted.

This ending of the war threats is expected to influence the remaining Near Eastern negotiations and force an accord on the points still disputed.

The essential points in Saturday's agreement are:

Greece admits that she owes indemnity to Turkey, while Turkey renounces enforcement of payments; the two powers agree to rectification of the boundary between Eastern and Western Thrace and to the restoration of ships seized from one another since the armistice; and Turks agree to waive indemnity in view of Greece's precarious financial condition, and Greece consents to the cession to Turkey of Karagatch and the railroad from Karagatch to the Bulgarian frontier.

The meeting Saturday began in the same atmosphere as attended the collapse of the previous conference on February 4th. The principal delegates, Sir Horace Rumbold, Great Britain, and General Pella, France, solemnly appealed to Ismet Pasha, head of the Turkish delegation, to waive all claims to cash indemnities and accept the offer of Karagatch. Joseph C. Drew, United States minister to Switzerland, pointed out that both Greece and Turkey were confronted with problems of international organizations demanding self-controlled statesmanship. He emphasized that Greece faced the terrible refugee problem and directly needed national reconstruction; it was unthinkable that she would abandon the idea to take up arms.

Jury Reached Decision in Ten Minutes

Former Postmaster of Edmonton Acquitted of Charge of Theft of $50,000 from the Mail

EDMONTON, Alta. May 30.—"Not guilty" was the verdict brought in by the jury at 3:35 p.m. yesterday, as to the sound of loud applause, former postmaster, George S. Armstrong, was absolved of the charge of theft of $50,000 in Merchants' Bank bills from the registration department of the Edmonton postoffice in August 1919.

After the charge to the jury by Mr. Justice Simmons and the retirement of the juryman at 3:25, ten minutes elapsed before they once more were ushered in by Sheriff John Rae and took their places.

Following the decision was a hurricane of handclapping, this demonstration being speedily quelled by the sheriff. No rider was added to the verdict by the jury.

The postmaster, who throughout the trial sat at his counsel's table, was ordered to stand. Mr. Justice Simmons announcing, "you are discharged Mr. Armstrong—the court is adjourned." Then the man who all through the long nerve-racking trial, had maintained his composure, broke down, as with his wife standing at his side, friends crowded around to congratulate him.

De Valera Calls For Discontinuance Of Armed Rebellion

Declaration Made That Victory Rests for the Moment With Irish Free State

LAYING DOWN ARMS IS AN ACT OF PATRIOTISM

DUBLIN, May 28th.—A document addressed by Eamon De Valera to all ranks in the Republican army, calling for discontinuance of the Armed Struggle, has been taken by the Free State authorities from a captured Republican leader; it was announced today.

In issuing this document for publication, the Free State Government also gave out one of similar purport, definitely calling off armed revolt, signed by Frank Aiken, Republican chief of staff. The latter document says: "The arms with which we have fought the enemies of our country, are to be dumped. The foreign and domestic enemies of the republic have for the moment prevailed."

The De Valera Document

Issued under date of May 24, the document reads:

"Soldiers of liberty, legion of the rear guard! The republic can no longer be defended successfully by your arms. Further sacrifices on your part would now be in vain, the continuance of the struggle would be unwise in the national interests.

"The military victory must be allowed to rest for the moment with those who have destroyed the republic. Do not let sorrow overwhelm you. Your efforts and sacrifices and your dead comrades in the forlorn hope will surely bear fruit. You have saved the national honor and kept the road to independence open.

"Laying aside your arms now is an act of patriotism as exalted and pure as your valor in taking them up."

Cosgrave Spoke in Open: Right in Kilkenny

President of Irish Free States Holds Meeting in One-time Rebel Center

DUBLIN, May 28.—President Cosgrave's confidence that Ireland is returning to normal conditions has been amply justified by his week end visit to Kilkenny, which formerly was a disturbed district. There was no need to take extra precautions, and when Mr. Cosgrave arrived Saturday night with only two or three personal attendants, he was received by a guard of honor and numerous addresses of welcome were presented to him.

President Cosgrave drove in an open car through crowded streets to a hotel, where he took his meals in the public dining room, and later moved freely about the city. Sunday's open air meeting was a great success. Mr. Cosgrave devoted his speech to justification of the government's policy, reiterating that there could be no modification on account of Eamon De Valera's recent negotiations.

"We want peace and we want it quickly," he said "but also we want it secure."

Referring to the necessity of raising a loan to carry out the government program, he pointed out that there had been a noteworthy boom in business, which showed that the people were satisfied with the government's stability, and the outlook therefore was promising.

A Memorable Day

Over Four Hours Heavy Rain also Heavy Rain During Night in Bow Island

A memorable day at Bow Island was Wednesday 30th. May, for it began to rain at 20 to 11 a.m. and at 11:30 a.m. was coming down "as fast as the land" and as hard as it could get. Then it eased a little although still raining and then another "perfect flood" came down, then it rained hard for another four hours also Heavy Rain at night. This will sure be a "God-send" to our farmers—the poor thirsty prairie farmers must have fairly revelled in that flood of rain as the land was in terrible shape before this—Crops dying for want of rain.

What Summer Fires Do To The Soil

Experimental Farm Note

There is a right and a wrong time to clear land with fire. The correct time is when the soil is moist.

In 1919 the Dominion Department of the Interior made an experimental spring-burn of land in Northern Alberta. The area chosen was covered with scattered dead and green poplars, three to eight inches, with numerous areas of small windfall and clumps of Poplar and Willow brush. The spring was an ordinary one. Under these circumstances the cost of clearing was reduced 80% by one fire, yet it was claimed that the soil was not damaged even under the heaviest windfalls, where the fires were hottest.

On the other hand, during the drouthy summer of 1922 widespread fires devastated the North Country, killing large areas of merchantable conifers—some on land unfit for agriculture—and, worse still, destroying thousands of acres of vegetable mould, leaving behind a raw crude subsoil on which only leguminous crops, such as Vetch and Peavine, could be expected to flourish. For crops other than legumes these hard-burned soils will be unproductive until restored by a long process of rebuilding, in which, by the way Sweet Clover might play a useful part. Even the ash left by the fire is liable to be eroded by wind or water, and when this occurs a particularly impoverished soil results, with the denuded subsoil often showing a large percentage of stones, since these are not readily dislodged.

In certain districts of the Peace River country there are raw, hard-burned, rocky knolls or ridges of that character, as well as some burns, where the surface loam is thin. These commonly produce inferior crops.

It requires humus and plenty of it to make a soil completely fertile. The usual five to six inches of fibrous black loam mould is a heritage of stored-up plant food awaiting the husbandman. Burn this and the soil is poor.

On the garden of the Beaverlodge Experimental Station is a patch where sods had been removed for roofing by an early pioneer. Six years intensive treatment, with repeated heavy applications of manure, have never produced more than half a crop of vegetables on this land. The cream of the fertility had been skimmed off.

Last year thousands upon thousands of acres were likewise stripped by fire. Along the Dunvegan line near Westlock there were fires burning in deep swamp mould, reducing the upper two feet to a fluffy layer of ash. On some of these extra rich peaty soils the immediate effect may possibly be favorable to cropping; but, looking to the future, such a conflagration is wasteful in the same sense as it would be to burn up a coal measure.

Forestry experts properly deplore the annual destruction in Canada of so much merchantable timber by fire. Even more deplorable is it to roast the fatness out of a good agricultural soil.

Let us clear land in the spring with controlled fire but let us beware of summer as of a plague.

W.D. Albright—Superintendent

Dominion Experimental Sub-Station

Lightning Bolt Hits Foremost Boy

FOREMOST—Struck by a bolt of lightning that came out of a small rain cloud passing over here on Friday afternoon about 1:15, Arthur Eagleson, the 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Eagleson, was lightly burned about the head and body. The horse he was mounting was instantly killed.

Arthur had just arrived home from school and went to the horse that was grazing about 100 yards from his home. Just as he had one leg over the horse's back and his hand touching the mane and the other foot off the ground, the bolt struck through the boy's cap, capturing a strip out of it at least three inches wide, searing the hair back of his right ear, burning his neck slightly and following part way down his body. He was unconscious about 10 minutes. The bolt struck the horse across the weathered and followed down the outside of both front legs to the ground.

At this writing Arthur is doing nicely and will likely be about again in a few days.

Beatty Talks of Government Owned Railroads

Success Depends on Freedom From Politics and Development of Canada

LONDON—President E.W. Beatty, of the Canadian Pacific Railway, in an interview in the London Times concerning immigration, says Canada had been extremely backward in steps taken in the last few years, compared to the advanced forward policies of other parts of the Empire in attracting new citizens. This slowness was due to the fact that the people became discouraged by the economic situation which was a natural consequence of after-war adjustments.

"While I do not believe in government ownership of railways," continued Mr. Beatty, "I realize that the adoption of this system was not altogether a matter of choice in Canada. Whether the present trial will result in even a fair measure of success will depend, I think, firstly whether freedom from political influence will be permitted the officers administering the system and, secondly, the general development of Canada in the next few years."

Notice of Intention of Council of Burdett Village To Pass Early Closing By-Law

NOTICE is hereby given that a Petition has been presented to the Council of the Village of Burdett under the Provisions of "The Early Closing Act" praying for the passing of the following Closing By-Law:

Postmaster With $45,000 Held Up

STAUNTON, Ill.—Five armed men late Saturday hold up the postmaster and a postal clerk in the heart of the city and escaped with a payroll of $45,000 which was intended for the payment of coal miners' wages. The pouch containing the money was being carried from the train to the postoffice when the robbery occurred. The robbers escaped in an automobile.

When To Plough The Summer Fallow

Experimental Farm Note

In an experiment conducted for ten years at Brandon Experimental Farm the average yield of wheat per acre from Summer Fallow land ploughed May 15th, June 15th, and July 15th, of the previous year has been 37 bushels 41 lbs for May 15th ploughing, 35 bushels 33 lbs for June 15th ploughing, and 29 bushels 48 lbs for July 15th ploughing.

May ploughing has therefore shown a slight advantage over June ploughing. It is hardly practicable to recommend May ploughing for Summer Fallow, as that month is usually filled with seeding operations. However the advantage which May 15th has over June 15th, would indicate that the sooner Summer Fallow ploughing can be started, without interfering with the spring work, the better. This is particularly true where stink-weed is a factor, as it begins to ripen seed early in June.

Late ploughing of Summer Fallow is a mistake. The growth of the weeds wastes the moisture; the weeds ripen and shed seeds which are a cause of trouble in future; and the operation requires more power and is harder to do properly when done late. It should be the object of every farmer to get his Summer Fallow all ploughed early.
